

Key words: adverse drug reaction; anaphylaxis; grass pollen; sublingual immunotherapy.

Anaphylactic reaction after the first dose of sublingual immunotherapy with grass pollen tablet

H de Groot, A Bijl

The advantage of sublingual immunotherapy is its friendly route of administration (especially for children) and less frequent occurrence of severe side-effects

For more information concerning the original article, please contact info@lareb.nl